CONFERENCES AT OYSTER BAY

Loeb There Lesterday, and Pinchot and Garfield Expected To-Day.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., August 9 .- Theodore Roosevelt spent this evening talking politics with William Loeb Jr., collector of the port of New York, Tocollector of the port of New York. Tomorrow he expects to have a conference with Gifford Pinchot, former forester, and James R. Garfield, ex.
Secretary of the Interior. They may not be able to reach Oyster Bay tomorrow, however. For the past two weeks Colonel Roosevelt has practically avoided political conferences. The renewal of conferences of such a nature is taken as an indication that the exPresident may be preparing to engage more actively in politics, State and national, althought he allowed no such intimation to escape his lips to-day,

Vote Not Large.

In Richmond there was some show of activity throughout the day. The friends of both candidates were fairly busy getting the voters to the polls, but the lack of close organization was clearly indicated in the fact that the total vote only reached $390, whereast it was $5,166 in the primary of April 2: of this year, when candidates were sominated for the City Council, and 5,115 in the gubernaterial contest of last August.

In some of the counties, the vote was fairly large, while in others much apathy was exhibited.

It was impossible to get returns from all of the precincts last night. Some of these could not be reached by telephone, while not a word found its way into Richmond from Goochiand. The returns received five a total journey of the counties, the total vote there would exceed $150.

The returns received give a total vote for Captain Lamb of $,011, and for Judge Wickham, of 2,351. This makes as majority of $60, estimates based on a majority of $60, estimates based on the precipitation was again indersed at the polls in line in any city.

It was expected that Richmond's opponent was not so well known.

Judge Wickham's friends were, while isappointed that he was not nominated, more than gratified at the show-nated, more than gratified at the showing he made under the circumstances. When asked as to whether he would be a candidate again for the nomination, Judge Wickham would not express himself last night, but it is believed his friends will insist that he be in the race two years hence.

Captain Lamb took but little part in the election. He received the returns at his home last night and was much gratified at the result.

Construction of a permanent concrete wharf rather than a wooden pile dock was determined upon by the Board of Aldermen last night.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the James River-Improvement Committee to advertise for bids for such a wharf, to extend from the mouth of Gilley's Creek to Nicholson Street. It is estimated that it will require an expenditure of $26,000.

The committee previously secured bids for building a pile wharf, but it has been decided that a concrete wharf will be more desirable. There is already an appropriation of $20,000 for the purpose. The lowest bid was $24,000, and the contract was not awarded. The committee then requested the Finance Committee to appropriate $26,000 in order that the wharf might be built. The Finance Committee has made no recommendation. It is the opinion of members of the Jamess-River Improvement Committee that a concrete wharf can be constructed for about that sum.

Councilman Pollock, who streen ously opposed the original ordinance ac recommended by the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform, which also prohibited attorney-Councilmen from appearing in court in any matter in which the city is interested, was in the chamber, however, until the measure was passed. Mr. Pollock succeeded in having the clause referring to attorney-Councilmen appearing in court in the interest of clients on matters, the outcome of which would affect the city, stricken from the measure, in the Common Counci. He did not oppose the ordinance as adopted. It now goes to the Mayor for approval. The measure is the result of the investigation into the charge that Councilmen Pollock and Wise received a fee for securing the passage of an ordinance allowing dairymen to feed distillery waste to cows. The penalty for a violation of the ordinance is from $25 to $500.

Vacation for Faithful Employe.

Charles Armstrong, who has been an employe of the Light Department for more than forty years, will have his first yacation of ten days with pay.

The Common Council adopted a resolution granting him a leave of absence and the boand concurred. It was explained by members of the Committee on Light that Mr. Armstrong has been a faithful employe for nearly half a century, and that he deserves some recreation. Fellow workmen have agreed to perform Mr. Armstrong's work while he is absent, provided he receive his wages.
